DJ Webmin moves to lightning fast servers

MINNEAPOLIS, MINNESOTA. – June 6, 2002 – DJ Webmin looks at the BIG picture and forecasts it's growth to accommodate user volume by moving the entire server operations to a new network.

Since the marketing partnership of DJ Webmin, DJ Intelligence and ProDJ.com there has been a surge of public interest in the value of DJ Webmin for event administration for mobile entertainers. Packed with more features than originally assumed the programmers of DJ Webmin showed concern of outgrowing the servers and network, this prompted action to move to a larger server network.

DJ Webmin officially moved, with minimal user complication, over to a new network of servers hosted with ProDJ.com Internet Services. DJ Webmin founder Barry Cedergren said, "We were getting some speed complaints and the action to solve this started immediately. ProDJ.com has a full in-house network they recently integrated and we agreed to reserve DJ Webmin servers on their location and Internet pipeline. The speed increase is astonishing!" With the upgrade of servers there comes many other opportunities to expand DJ Webmin far beyond what the program had original plans for.

DJ Webmin will be available for view and inquiries at the Chicago Mobile Beat DJ Convention at the end of June 2002. There will be many opportunities to ask the founder, Barry Cedergren, about the program features and how DJ Webmin can help the dj industry. DJ Webmin will be at the Mobile Beat Convention with marketing partners DJ Intelligence and ProDJ.com with a large 3-booth span setup to peak maximum interest.
